What is the UK Data Service?

- A comprehensive resource funded by the ESRC
- A single point of access to a wide range of secondary social science data
- Support, training and guidance

Who is it for?

- Academic researchers and students
- Government analysts
- Charities and foundations
- Business consultants
- Independent research centres
- Think tanks

Sources of data

- Official agencies – mainly central government
- International governmental organisations
- Research institutions
- Individual academics - research grants
- Market research agencies
- Public records/historical sources

Data access

- Web access to data and documentation
- Data are freely available to students & staff in higher education institutions
- Data supplied in a variety of formats
 - statistical package formats (e.g. SPSS, STATA)
 - databases and spreadsheets
 - word processed documents, PDF documents etc.

Access conditions

| Data Type | Access conditions |
|---|---|
| Open access Most Census / International - Small number of survey teaching datasets | Open access |
| End User Licence Most research datasets | Requires registration and user name and password UK academics and students login using their institutional username and password |
| Special Licence Most survey microdata with lower level geography | Restricted to 'Approved Researchers' under the Statistics and Registration Act |
| Secure access | Restricted to 'Approved Researchers' and access limited through a physical or virtual environment |

International macrodata

- Time series data aggregated to country/region (Annual, Quarterly, Monthly)
- Regularly updated
- International governmental organisations (IMF, OECD, IEA, World Bank, UN)
- Wide range of socio-economic topics

International data themes

Databanks cover:

- economic performance and development
- trade, industry and markets
- employment
- demography, migration and health
- governance
- human development
- social expenditure
- education
- science and technology
- land use and the environment
- energy

Qualitative data

qualitative data is non-numeric information for example:

- interview transcripts
- visual data
- focus groups
- essays
- diaries
- observation notes
- documents
- audio data
- open-ended survey questions
- case notes
- newspaper clippings

mixed methods approaches combine qualitative data with quantitative (numeric) data.

Key Data: UK Surveys

- Government, ONS or NatCen
- Large sample sizes
- Nationally-representative
- Well documented
- Wide range of topics
 - including health, work, crime, social attitudes, family expenditure, living costs, housing etc.

Examples

British Social Attitudes (BSA)

British Election Study (BES)

Health Survey for England (HSE)

Cross-sectional survey data

- Sample of individuals from one point in time

- Use to estimate
 - prevalence in the population
 - comparison of sub-groups

Repeated cross-sectional survey data

- Survey repeated with a new sample of individuals

- Use to estimate population change over time
- not individual change over time

Example: Crime Survey for England and Wales

- Face-to-face victimisation survey
 - experiences of a selected range of offences in the 12 months prior to the interview
 - measurement of crime to be unaffected by reporting to the police or police recording practices
 - National Statistics “badge”.
- Attitudes and perceptions

Survey design

since 1981 annual since 2001/02 methodology for the main count of crime comparable since the survey began

fraud and computer misuse

Trends in Crime Survey for England and Wales and police recorded crime, year ending December 1981 to year ending September 2016

Longitudinal studies

- Follow individual level change over time
- Analyse change at the individual level
 - e.g. who moves in and out of the labour market and why?

Key data: cohort studies

- Follow a group from a particular period
- Three major studies
 - National Child Development Study (1958)
 - 1970 British Cohort Study
 - Millennium Cohort Study (2000/01)
- Generational change
- Health/medical focus
- Social and economic circumstances

Key data: Understanding Society

- 40,000 households and 100,000 individuals
- topics
 - economic circumstances
 - social and family life
 - attitudes and behaviours
 - health
- British Household Panel Survey (25 years)
- data linkage (linking together two or more streams of data):
 - Geographical Identifiers, Administrative Data Linkage and Organisations

Cross-national surveys

- Studies across many nations with
 - same survey instrument
 - fieldwork protocols (where possible)
- Other archives may hold the data

Examples

Eurobarometer (EB)

European Quality of Life Survey (EQLS)

European Social Survey (ESS)

Young Lives: an International Study of Childhood Poverty

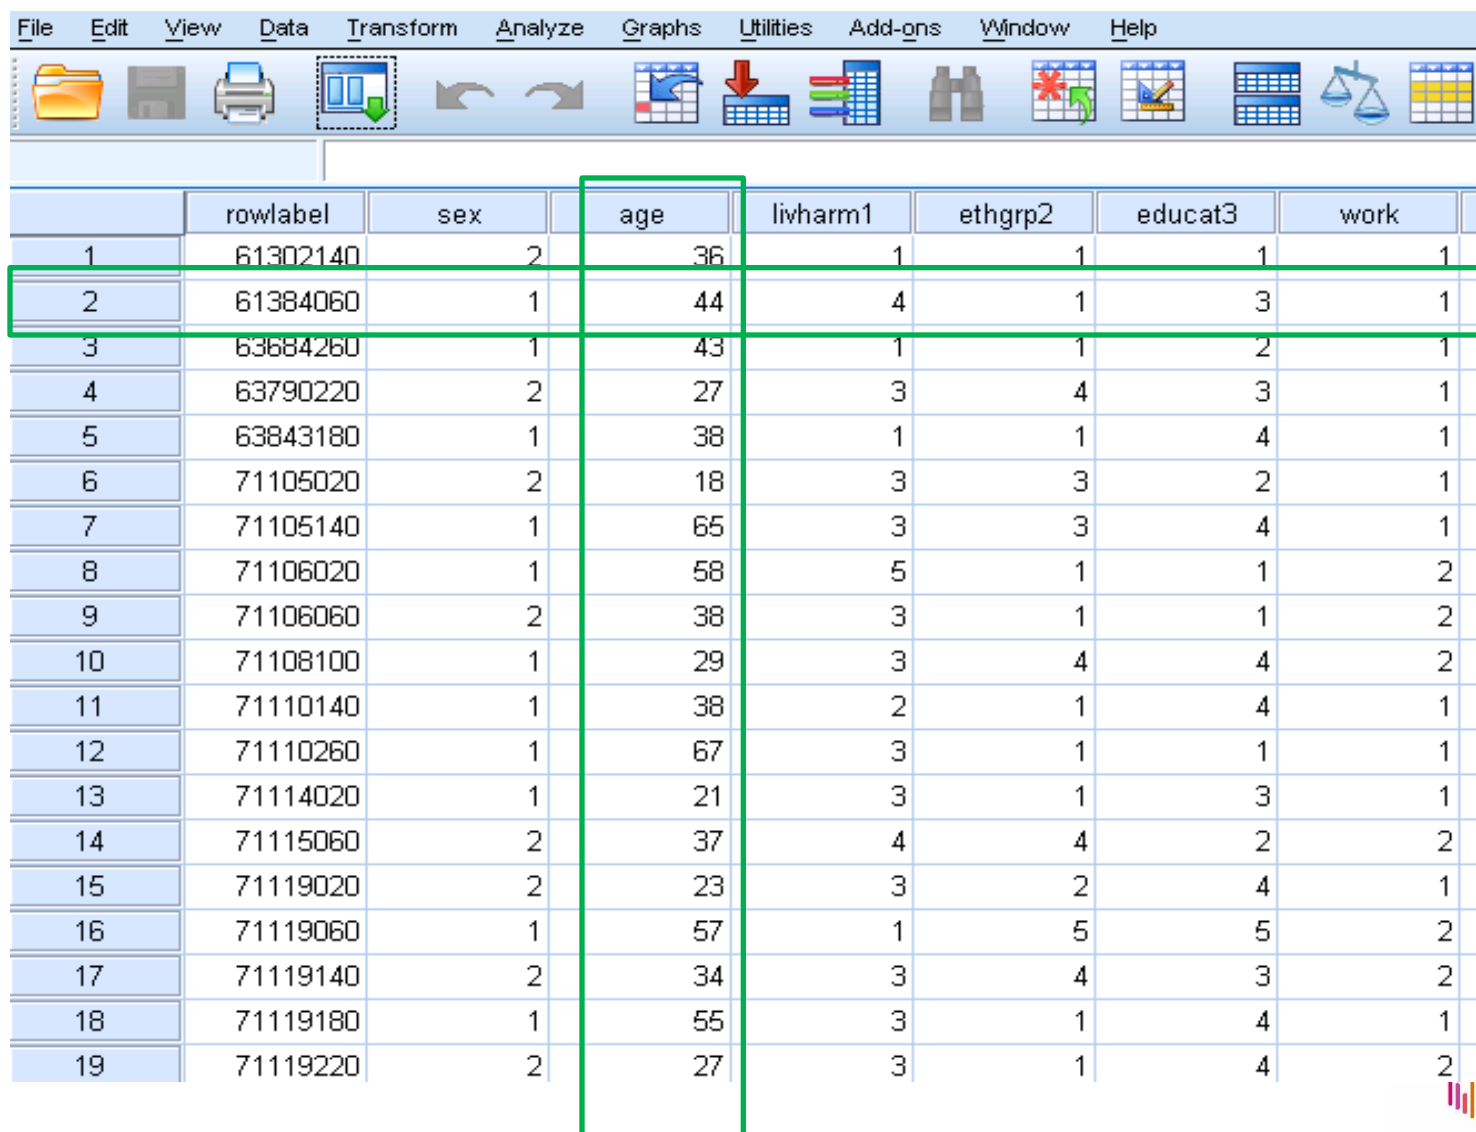

Survey microdata

- Individual or household level data
- Anonymised to prevent disclosure
- Analyse using computer software (e.g. SPSS , Stata or R)

- produce tables, graphs
- select sub-populations
- create attributes
- statistical tests and models

Making sense of your data

- You need to understand the data and evaluate suitability for your research question
- Consider:
 - what information was collected
 - from whom
 - when and where
 - what was done to the data?
- Read documentation!

Exploring the dataset: the catalogue page, documentation and Nesstar

Catalogue page and documentation

We will use the British Social Attitudes Survey 2016 but the processes for finding out about survey data will apply to all survey datasets.

Use Get data>Key data to find the British Social Attitudes Survey from among the Key UK Surveys.

- ⇒ Click on the title of the survey to go to the Series page.
- ⇒ Click on the Access tab
- ⇒ On the list that appears, click on BSA 2016 to go to the catalogue page for the BSA 2016.

The catalogue page includes information about the survey in the Details tab, the documentation from the survey providers in the Documentation tab and links to download the data in the Access tab.

TASK: Explore the BSA 2016 catalogue page to find out more about the data

1. When did the BSA series start?
2. Who deposits the BSA?

Crime is falling. Now let's reduce fear of crime

Ally Fogg

Despite the evidence, people don't believe Britain is becoming safer. Accepting the truth isn't easy, but would benefit the nation

Before we start

- Is fear of crime widespread in England and Wales?
- Are there likely to be gender differences in the fear of crime?
- How might age determine fear of crime?
